

July 2019 Newsletter

Greetings!

Wow, that was a scorcher of a weekend! Hope you all stayed safe with lots of skin hydration and sunscreen and general body hydration too! Now whether that took the form of Gin and Tonic or just plain water, well that's not for me to judge!!

After my request for kittens last month, I'm delighted to say that our house is now a very happy home again. We have two little girls, both tortoiseshells and they have a story all of their own. We had them at the age of 2 and a half weeks as their Mummy had died the day before we had them. Now I know I requested Tabbies, but fate played a hand and we couldn't turn our backs on these two. They are just the most delightful pair and both are doing really well. They have advanced so much in the 2 weeks that we've had them, despite not having their real Mum so show them the way. See the pictures below: Coco is the one with what looks like eyebrows and Cleo is the other one. Both little mischiefs!
