

May 2018 Newsletter

Greetings!

So the end of April teased us with some summer sunshine and then brought us completely back down to earth with some more cold and rainy weather. Yuck! I'm attempting to bring the sunshine back with this month's newsletter and encouraging everyone to put their best foot forward with our Fruity Foot Fest and prepare for the summer hols with our Jet Set Your Make-Up Bag sessions.

Read below for more information about these services and a great new combo product from the Advanced Nutrition Programme.

Talking of holidays, the season is fast approaching where we will all be taking some time off work so if you really want to see one therapist in particular get your appointments booked in now. Just to let you know Alanis is away from the salon this first week in May and the last week in July. Hardeep is away the last week in May and the last weekend of July. Lisa is away the first week in July and the last week in August and Wendy is away for a week starting the 16th May.

One last piece of news for this month is that we have now closed down our FaceBook page. We thought that for the time involved updating the page with relevant and interesting information, we would much rather talk to you directly and get you instant feedback. So much more rewarding than talking to a computer screen! So with that in mind you may get some shorter emails dropping into your inbox from time to time if there's something we really need to tell you before the next newsletter is due. You can of course unsubscribe from these at any time if it's too much, or talk to us and let us know what you're thinking.
